BRILLIANT MUSICAL REVUE TO BE SEEN AT STATE FAIR

A few of the conspicuously contented dancing and singing girls who appear in the Winter Garden Revue of the Virginia State Fair, Sixteen of these Broadway beauties are "on the line" in the festive ensemble.

The famous Winter Garden Revue is again to be the feature attraction of the annual Virginia State Fair at Richmond the week of October 1 to 6, it is announced.

The performance will be given on a specially enlarged stage before the grandstand. Powerful microphones and amplifiers are used, so that every word spoken or sung may be clearly heard. Six feature numbers and numerous specialties make up the program, which includes current Broadway song, comedy and dancing hits.

The Revue is produced by the same company which staged the show at the Virginia Fair the past four seasons. It is said to be entirely new. Some forty people compose the company, including notable singers, dance-specialists and comics and a big chorus of slender and dazzling girls. Special choreographic and lighting effects will be brought to Richmond direct from New York for the performance, and the show is elaborately costumed.

Between reels of the Revue a lengthy program of motion and vaudeville features will be offered, including Dr. Carver's high-diving horse and girl riders, declared to be the most thrilling performance ever witnessed at the Fair.

Horse racing on four days, beginning Tuesday, and automobile races on Saturday are other attractions.

Popular prices of 25 cents to the grounds for adults, and 15 cents for children, will prevail this season. Children will be admitted free of charge on Monday, opening day.

that challenge. It is honesty seeking the betterment of conditions among the masses. We believe that those who cooperate won't miss, and that defects in the plan as they develop, will be rectified from within not from without.

It all may seem a complicated way of selling your crop, having to take your allotment card with you to market and having to send Johnny back home for it if you forget it. But, the world moves on just the same, and for that matter we do think that radios, talking pictures and electric refrigerators are mighty complicated things— but they are mighty good, sound things.

Father DARKLEAF'S Column

Wherein the Editor Gets in a Personal Touch

Father Darkleaf and Mother Brindlelief, the county's happiest couple, decided to do a little first hand snooping in the old North State recently, so we mounted our gasolene chariot and hied us away.

I always get a thrill whenever I cross a state line. Makes one feel like a cosmopolite, you know. I'e always felt that there should be a set of village or stopping place at every state line crossing, where tourists could pause and swap yarns as to where they have been.

Anyway, We got into North Carolina and kept our eyes open for strikers, like that (business of wiping fingers). Soon we got to a town that announced a big well paper factory. So I asked how the well pipe industry was handling flying squadrons and strike organizers. But, goo things are so quiet and peaceful, George Moorhouse could have gotten off with a thank you, call again order.

And thus into Durham We expected to see strikers a llover the place and the Duke University staff out to help the national guard protect the women and children.

But, Durham was so quiet and peaceful you could hear the cats purring an you drove into town.

I was dead bent on getting an interview with a striker. But I am yet to find such a person in Carolina. The most startling thing I did find was that four out of every five men chew tobacco. I've seen such spitting.

Down near Duke, we stopped in what looked like a big time cafe to get a bite to eat. I ordered corn and mashed potatoes. The waiter looked me over and gave me rice and asparagus tips. And I ate asparagus tips and rice

It takes nennies to travel in North Carolina. There's a sales tax on most everything.

Well, we went on over to Wake Forest to look up some Appomattox boys there. All everyone we asked seemed to be able to tell us was that Wake Forest beat Guulford Saturday, 62 to 0. We finally found the boys in the only house in town that didn't look like a dormitory.

* * *

However the students were better versed in forward passing and kick hiking than they were on strike.

* * *

So we came on back home, not having laid eyes on a striker, and missing the chance to relate our first hand experiences.

* * *

The rest of the day we spent in reading about the Lindbergh case, and to us, the marvel is that if this Richard Bruno Hauptmann had been playing the stock market he even had $14,000 left.

Incidently, it was a newspaper columnist who got the results there. Sunday Walser Winchell in his column, "On Broadway" warned the public to be on the lookout for the gold certificate bills. Walter Lyle admits that was what made him report the one Hauptman gave him. Monday morning More results from a newspaper and a columnist.

Funeral Of Mrs. Harvey Tomorrow

Mrs. Geneva Lewis Harvey, 57, wife of James W. Harvey, who was injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago, died yesterday at the Virginia Baptist hospital in Lynchburg.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the Rivermont Overnue Baptist church, of which she was a member. Burial will be in the family burying ground near Vera.

Mrs. Harvey was born and raised in this county, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lewis. No was widely known as a devout Christian, a devoted friend and a faithful mother. Since her unfortunate accident great concern has been felt over her condition and her death will occasion great sorrow throughout this section.

She is survived by her husband ana the following children: Lewis and James H. Harvey, Misses Mae and Ada Harvey and Mrs. Irvin Mask, all o fLynchburg, and Mrs. L. W. Waters, of Easton; and two brothers, Z. E. and J. W. Lewis, of this county, and Prospect; and two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Anderson, of this county and Mrs. B. L. Meginson, of Lynchburg.

GETS ORDER OF 1500 GARMENTS FROM CCC CAMP

Langran & Marks, local dry cleaners, announced today that they are in receipt of contracts to clean over 1500 garments for the Willis Mountain CCC Camp.

The list of garments includes some 228 overcoats, 100 army pants, 250 shirts, etc. The work must be delivered by November 1. This order was obtained in competition with other cleaners in the county.

The management asks the indulgence of its regular customers while they are working on this order, and promise their usual prompt service.

Short On Material

May Have to Include Town Boys In Order To Get Team

According to coach W. T. Smith football material at the local high school is distinguished by its collective absence. Following the first call for practice, only eight made their appearance, and that has put a problem up to the coach. It takes eleven "good imen and true" to form a team, and you can't practice against imaginary opponents.

A hurreid call is being put in for more material. If that isn't forthcoming, there are only two possibilities: either don't have a team, or have a team composed for high school boys and town boys under 20 years of age.

Among the boys with football experience back in school are: John Cole, Charles Gregory, Twyman Dinkins, Sam Connor and Albert Henson.

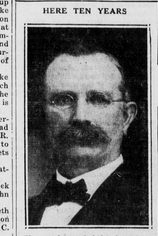
Circuit Court To Convene Monday With Short Docket

HERE TEN YEARS



The gentleman behind the foliage above is none than Rev. R. E. Redding. Next Sunday his church will celebrate his tenth anniversary here. Rev. Redding explains that he has been far too busy with his many duties to have time to pose for pictures, hence, we are using the above picture, taken prior to his coming here.

On the fifth Sunday in August, 24, Rev. R. E. Redding visited Appomattox and preached in the Presbyterian church. The congregations of the Stonewall, Dixburg and Evergreen Presbyterian churches united with the local church in that service to hear Rev. Redding. Later they gave him an unanimous call to become their pastor. He accepted and began his ministry on Ooctober 1, 1924.

Next Sunday, September 30, will mark the te nthanniversary of his pastorate and the local Presbyterian church has invited the congregations of the other three churches to unite with them at 11 A. M., in commeration of the anniversary.

During his ten years here, Rev. Redding has endeared himself to the people of this section and has became one of the most beloved and respected citizens of Appomattox. In addition to his church work, he is secretary for this county of the federal land bank, and is a close student of agruculture.

All Appomattox extends its greetings to Rev. Redding and his congregation.

List of Jurors Given For term; Expect Only Four New Indictments

The October term of the circuit court of Appomattox county will convene here next Monday, with judge Robert F. Hutchinson presiding.

Indications now are the term will not last over two days. The new trial justice sytem cuts down the number of cases taken before the circuit court, and it is thought that that there will be only four new indictments returned by the grand jury, with two postponed cases to come up.

Those summoned for jury service are: J. P. Johnson, S. W. Alvis, J. J Harvey, S. C. Drinkard, C. D. Lewis, Jesse Hunt, R. Alvin Hamilton, J. Holmes Martin, R. A. Jones, W. A. Wells, B. L. Wheeler, W. R Reynolds, J. H. Reynolds, J. R. Connor, T. U. Connor, Stephen A. Cyrus, George R. Abbitt, John W. Webb, C. T. Heinke and S. Guy Smith. Those summoned for petit jury service are: Harry W. Jenkins, B. G. Anderson, G. Lewis Dean, Taylor E. Layne, John T. Drinkard, E. H. Carson, G. B. Carson, Thos. R Pugh.

MAYOR McDEARMON THANKS DRIVERS OF SCHOOL BUSES

Mayor C. S. McDearmon this morning expressed his appreciation to school bus drivers for their fine response to a request he recently made to the parking of the buses during school hours.

The parking had developed of parking the buses during most of the day on the down town section of Church street, thus making it hard to find a parking place down town. Following the request of the mayor, the buses are now being parked elsewhere, relieving the traffic jam.
